BLACKS TO BLAME FOR FIRE DEATHS

By Martin Webster

A VICIOUS campaign to blame "White racists" for fires at Black and Asian premises has been discredited. FACTS have emerged about a number of incidents which indicate that the fire victims themselves or their associates caused the blazes.

In the case of deliberate fires, the arsonists were motivated by grudges or involved in bizarre rituals.

Accidental fires were caused by dangerous manufacturing activities being conducted illegally in unsuitable premises.

The most notorious of these fire tragedies took place at a house in Deptford, South London, three years ago. Thirteen of 200 young Blacks at a party were incinerated.

Cynical Black and Left Wing agitators immediately blamed the fire on a "White racist fire-bomb attack". The Black community was whipped up into a frenzy.

In the face of non-co-operation and lying from fire survivors the police have finally accumulated sufficient evidence to indict a Black party guest for murder by arson.

FACTORY FIRE-TRAP

On 26th October last year five Asian women died when fire broke out at a clothing factory in Whitechapel, East London.

This was immediately blamed on a "White racist fire-bomb attack" by the Trotskyite East London Workers Against Racism.

However factory-owners Gurdev Singh and Makham Singh face prosecution for failing to register their factory with Tower Hamlets Council.

This non-registration resulted in their factory never being visited by

GUEST HUNTED

The man has fled to America and is now being hunted by police in New York's Black ghetto.

On 5th March last year former Indian policeman, Gurpal Singh Thind, set about the "ritual incineration" of his entire family at their home in Feltham, West London.

An Old Bailey jury was told in December that Thind resolved to murder his family as a result of a feud. He poured petrol through a window and set light to it. The family managed to escape and Thind was sentenced to life imprisonment.

Many similar arson attacks on Asian homes have been blamed on "White racists", though the murder by fire of unwanted wives by dowry-hunting males and/or their mothers is commonplace in India.

Firemen dousing the final flames at the Asian garment factory in Whitechapel. The factory was unregistered and so had not been visited by safety officers.

fire prevention officers or factory inspectors.

A spokesman for the National Union of Tailors and Garment Workers commented: "There are at least 2,000 similar establishments in the East End. You must understand it could have happened at any one of them."

Six members of an Asian family were killed on 6th November last year when their terraced house in Gravesend, Kent, exploded in a ball of fire, sending tiles, masonry and jagged glass spraying down the street. The father of the family, Pritam Singh, and his eldest son, Kulvinder, miraculously escaped the inferno.

GAS CYLINDERS!

The family had been operating an illegal shoe factory in the cellar of the house. Gas cylinders and inflammable material such as glue were in store.

Three months previously 100 local White residents had petitioned Gravesend Council to close the illegal factory down, but no action was taken — perhaps because the petition was viewed as "a racist agitation".

Big publicity was given last September to a "racial attack" on Asian student Dipak Amin in East London. The letters "NF" were scratched on Amin's wrist.

"ATTACK" INVENTED

Amin later admitted to police he had invented the incident in order to skip an exam he feared he would fail.

In the light of all these incidents we demand that the Home Office conduct another — and this time impartial — investigation into "racial attacks".

British patriots resent being used as the 'whipping-boy' for the incompetence and criminality of Coloured Immigrants and for the manifest failure of multi-racialism!

This is all that remains of an Asian house which exploded into a ball of fire killing six people on 6th November. The Asians were running an illegal shoe factory in the basement. Gas cylinders and glue were in store. 100 local White residents had petitioned the Council to close the 'factory' but their plea was ignored. There are thousands of illegal and dangerous Asian 'factories' all over Britain.

Ulster's agony: time for action!

The grieving wives of the Darkley victims

MURDER is commonplace in Northern Ireland. More than 2,300 people have been killed — and 24,000 injured — since the start of the current "Troubles" in 1969.

If this murder rate had been projected throughout the whole of the UK, 81,000 people would have been killed!

Because we have become hardened to such statistics, it takes a really horrific outrage to focus our attention on Ulster's agony.

The murder of three worshippers in the Mountain Lodge Gospel Hall, Darkley, South Armagh, in November was one such incident.

The congregation of 70 people were singing their first hymn when two gunmen stormed in and opened fire on three Church Elders. Two of them collapsed and died instantly with blood pouring from head wounds. The gunmen then proceeded to spray indiscriminately more than 30 shots into the hall.

GENOCIDE

The congregation — including a seven-month old baby — dived for cover. One couple were hit shielding their child.

Responsibility for this slaughter was claimed by the previously unheard-of "Catholic Reaction Force". Ballistics experts later reported that one of the guns used in the attack had been previously used by the INLA — a ferocious splinter-group of the IRA.

In the face of genocidal attacks like this it is time for loyal Britons throughout the UK to demand that the government initiate immediate and effective action.

Up until now successive Tory and Labour governments have sought solutions in "political initiatives" designed to engineer "a compromise" between Loyalists and Republicans. Such initiatives are bound to fail because there is no "formula" which can accommodate those who are loyal to Britain and those who are not.

There is only one way to deal with INLA and IRA terrorists: that is to hunt them down to their rat-holes — north or south of the border — and shoot them on the spot.

The SAS is trained for just this kind of work. It is time they got on with the job.

MARCH AGAINST THE I.R.A. IN SHEFFIELD ON SUNDAY, 29th JAN.

THE IRA is holding its infamous 'Bloody Sunday' march on Sunday 29th January. The probable location: Sheffield. Coaches will be taking NF members/supporters from all parts to join a counter-march. If you would like to join our 'Smash the IRA' demo, contact your local NF unit or phone (01) 684 0271.

WHO APPOINTED U.S. AS THE WORLD'S POLICEMAN?

THE fact that America could engage in the invasion of Grenada, a country nominally within the Commonwealth, without giving prior notice to or obtaining approval from the British government shows the contempt with which America views her "closest ally".

It highlights the emptiness of the "promise" which President Reagan is said to have given to Margaret Thatcher that America would not fire Cruise missiles stationed in Britain without the prior permission of the British government and that therefore Britain "has a veto" over the use of such weapons.

The idea that the Black Marxist regime of Grenada — with or without an airport built by Cubans — posed a "threat" to America or "the Free West" is laughable. We will take such allegations seriously when America stops providing massive quantities of technology, wheat and credit to the Soviet Union!

'Nationalists' who rejoice in the American invasion of Grenada simply because the people of that nation are Black and were being misruled by a Marxist regime are fooling themselves. Nationalists must adhere to the principle of National Sovereignty.

If the precedent set by America's invasion of Grenada is unchallenged by Nationalists now, then what fate might befall a future Nationalist government in Britain when it proceeds to "threaten" America by closing down US military bases, withdrawing from the usury-Capitalist system and repatriating racial aliens?

NF News seeks to persuade its readers to feel angry about the evils of multi-racialism and to direct their anger solely at the corrupt politicians who created a racial problem in Britain, and not to the Immigrant people in general. "Racialism" is NOT unlawful — only "racial hatred".

E.E.C. ROBS BRITAIN—AGAIN!

Say goodbye to your 'pinta'

ON Wednesday 16th November Michael Jopling, the Agriculture Minister, sounded the death knell of the British 'pinta'. He announced that he was ending all restrictions on the importation of foreign milk.

Last February the so-called EEC Court of Justice had overruled the British government and ordered them to allow in Ultra Heat Treatment (UHT) milk whereas previously, all such milk had to be re-treated to British standards in order to meet our health regulations. This UHT milk only takes about 1% of the total sales of milk in the UK.

However, Mr. Jopling went much further and, without any pressure or European Court rulings, he has decided to allow the much more common sterilised milk to be imported as well.

These European imports are likely — for a time — to be cheaper than fresh milk and will almost certainly be heavily promoted by the large chain supermarkets.

If just a few percent of Britain's housewives switch over to such milk it will make the door-to-door deliveries on which most families rely uneconomic, and that will be the end of Britain's 'doorstep pinta'.

By Ian Anderson

MARGARET THATCHER claimed a great victory when in July she managed to persuade the Common Market to reduce Britain's net contribution for 1983 from £1,000 million to £550 million.

The agreed rebate of £450 million should have been paid by now but instead it has been put into a special reserve fund from which it can only be released with the approval of the European Parliament!

In other words we are back to square one and will have to go cap in hand to get back the money which we paid in the first place.

Next year Britain is expected to fork out at least a further £450 million to prop up the increasingly ailing Common Market.

The largest portion of the Common Market's income, over 60% of the total, goes to support the Common Agricultural Policy which is designed to subsidise the inefficiency of Continental farmers.

The end result of this policy is the creation of butter mountains, wine lakes and now vast accumulations of cauliflowers.

Expenditure on this disastrous policy is now rising at 28% each year and it is this massive overspending which has led to the freezing of Britain's rebate and the near bankruptcy of the Common Market.

This price, we are told, is necessary for Britain to gain access for our goods to European markets. Yet as was reported to a meeting of European foreign ministers on 17th October, most other Common Market countries don't allow unlimited access to their domestic markets.

The many devices used to exclude our goods include the refusal by Belgium to allow in margarine packed in oblong packets (they only allow in margarine in cubes!), Southern Ireland only allows in furniture which has certain inscriptions in Gaelic — while Germany maintains 16th century purity-of-content laws which effectively bar all foreign beers.

The end result of all this is that Britain gives millions of pounds every day to the Common Market for the privilege of having foreign goods dumped into our country thus putting millions on the dole.

In return we gain nothing except the laughter of our so-called European "partners".

BRITISH INDUSTRY—THE FINAL BLOW

By Our Industrial Correspondent

WHILE Chancellor of the Exchequer Nigel Lawson was presenting his autumn budget to Parliament on Thursday 17th November the real decisions affecting the future of British industry were under discussion elsewhere.

The budget itself was bad enough. Lawson is proposing to sell off a further £750 million worth of Britain's assets next year. He intends to wreck our transport system by cutting current expenditure by £300 million. For the less well off, he is taking away the right of one and a half million people to claim housing benefit.

All these cuts are apparently "essential" because otherwise Britain might not be able to meet the interest payments to the international bankers.

In reality they are a programme for the destruction of British industry and the impoverishment of the British people.

Even more frightening are the proposals now being put forward by President Reagan and other leading supporters of the international banking system.

Their proposals include the formation of a so-called "Super-Gatt" agreement whereby all restrictions on the trading of services across national boundaries will be lifted.

Your car insurance might then be with a Korean firm, your mortgage with a Brazilian finance house and your local bank may be American owned.

Britain would then effectively cease to exist as an independent country and government would pass even faster to the Rockefellers, the Rothschilds and other vultures of internationalism.

Meet Traitor Tugendhat

CHRISTOPHER TUGENDHAT, once a British Member of Parliament, is one of the men who preside over the systematic looting of our country by the Common Market.

It was he who last July presented the biggest ever EEC supplementary budget of £1,365 million of which £1,181 million went to the Common Agricultural Policy.

It was he who, as Budget Commissioner to the European Parliament, has allowed Britain's net contribution to the Common Market to reach astronomical proportions.

He was one of the most forceful proponents of Britain's entry into the Common Market and he is now certainly benefitting as one of the highest paid European officials.

Tugendhat was educated at Cambridge University where he rose to be President of the Cambridge Union, that well known training ground for Britain's traitors.

After working for 10 years as a journalist for the Financial Times he developed his contacts in the City and became a consultant to a firm of stockbrokers.

While holding directorships of oil companies he became MP for the City of London until 1977 when he saw a clearly more lucrative future in betraying Britain for his European masters.

MR. BERGER'S 100,000 SLUMS

By Our Housing Correspondent

"HARASSMENT by neglect" — that's how tenants sum up their treatment at the hands of Sighismund Berger, Britain's biggest private landlord.

Berger's empire controls 100,000 flats and houses through a shadowy network of at least 360 companies.

Many of these companies are 'charities' dedicated to propagating Judaism through the ultra-Orthodox Satmar sect.

One researcher has identified 1,963 flats controlled by Berger in three London boroughs alone: Camden, Westminster and Kensington and Chelsea.

Every Berger tenant has the same story to tell: lack of maintenance, serious disrepair and poor workmanship on the rare occasions when repairs are effected.

One Blackheath tenant, Mr. Harry Osborne, has been pressing for 7 years for a roof repair. "It's like living in a rain forest," he said. "I've got sick and tired of redecorating."

An 80 year old woman tenant

Thousands of Berger tenants endure "harassment by neglect" has failed to get repairs to a leaking central heating pip which has twice brought down her ceiling.

Mr. Terry Dean runs the 'Berger Action Group' which was set up by the Organisation of Private Tenants. He believes that Berger's neglect is deliberate.

"If tenants living in bad conditions find it affects their health, they are inclined to look for somewhere better to live."

"That is exactly what the landlord wants because he hopes to redevelop the property and sell it at a huge profit."

Mr. Dean estimates that a property with a sitting tenant is worth only about 40 per cent of its value with vacant possession.

A four-storey tenanted house in Pimlico, for example, is worth about £65,000. Empty, it would fetch £160,000.

A Bankrupt's Banquet

By Our Crime Correspondent

CHAMPION bankrupt William Stern is well known as one who exerts himself for the well-being of his fellow man.

Before he incurred his liability of £104 million, he used to lavish "Christmas presents" on Crown Agent's officials.

Shortly before he filed for bankruptcy he generously bestowed all his assets — including his £200,000 Golders Green mansion — on his wife and father.

A devout Orthodox Jew, he is still fondly remembered in property circles for refusing to conduct business on Saturdays.

Now Stern has released another ray of sunshine on the world. His daughter, Frances, married an American medical student in November at an occasion worthy of Hollywood. The wedding took place under a canopy on the roof garden of the luxurious Rainbow Suite in Kensington.

The ceremony was followed by cocktails for more than 1,000 guests. Closer friends — some 700 of them — were later entertained at a "gourmet dinner".

Stern's creditors will surely not begrudge the cost of this wedding feast. They should be grateful for his £500,000 payment off the £104 million debt, and for his promise to make some further annual payments of £6,000.

Anyway, the cost of the banquet was not incurred personally by him: all bills (no doubt) will be met by his wife and father.

Creditors' protests about such a happy family occasion could only be viewed as being in the worst possible taste and an incitement to anti-semitism.

BRITAIN NEEDS SOLE CONTROL OF A BRITISH NUCLEAR BOMB!

By Martin Wingfield

A MASSIVE 94 per cent of the British people want Britain to have effective control over American Cruise missiles sited in this country.

This fact emerged from a recent NOP poll. The poll showed that the British people are distinctly unhappy with the lack of 'dual control' on the British based missiles and concerned at the lack of 'right of veto' over the use of these weapons.

What these opinions indicate is that the British people wish to have a British-made bomb under the sole control of the British government available exclusively for the defence of British national standards.

The debate concerning the siting of Cruise missiles in Britain has tended to overshadow discussion of the usefulness of the weapon — and its huge cost to the British taxpayer: £5 billion.

HOW "SMART"?

Cruise is a "smart bomb" — that is to say, it is said to have the capacity to fly under radar and 'map read' its way over enemy territory to its target by an indirect route.

However, this 'map reading' capacity has been inadequately tested. Furthermore, the missile flies at only 450 mph — the speed of Germany's WW2 V1 'Doodlebug'.

Cruise advocates argue that the 5 to 7 hours Cruise missiles would take to reach their targets gives time for "final negotiations".

They imply that the missiles can be destroyed in flight if the theoretical "final negotiations" are successful.

Assuming the missiles do contain this 'destruct' device, what would happen if the final negotiations were satisfactory to Britain but unsatisfactory to America — or vice versa?

Indeed, would Britain even be a party to such negotiations — or truthfully informed by America of their outcome?

'DESTRUCT' VETO?

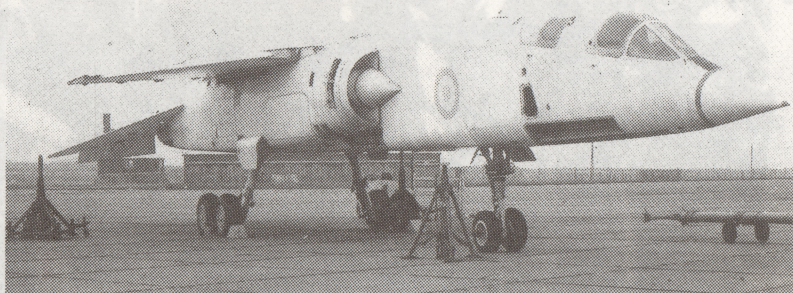

On the basis of the Grenada debacle, the answer to both these questions is very likely "No".

It is claimed that Britain "has a veto" over the launching of the weapon — it's also claimed that our government has access to and a veto over the use of its 'destruct' button?

Quite clearly Cruise missiles undermine Britain's national independence and constitute a threat to vital British interests.

These missiles — along with all US military bases — must quit Britain and be replaced by an independent British nuclear deterrent.

WE CAN BUILD OUR OWN DETERRENT

HAS Britain the technology and the cash to build her own independent nuclear deterrent?

The answer is YES!

British scientists and engineers developed the superb TSR2 aircraft and 'smart' bomb in the early 1960s.

This exclusively British designed and built weapon system would still be in advance of anything the Americans or Russians have got in the field today.

The plane could fly below radar at twice the speed of sound and launch its 'stand-off' bomb up to 1,500 miles from its target!

The bomb could fly to its destination super-sonically at tree-top height by an indirect route.

Because TSR2 was a manned system, it could be recalled in the event of last-minute peace negotiations.

But America insisted that Harold Wilson's 1964 Labour government scrap the TSR2 project (they even insisted that the prototype and jigs be destroyed!) in return for a $6 billion loan.

Britain's scientists and engineers could develop a new system today — funded by the £5 billion set aside to buy Cruise.

Britain does not need the 'over-kill' capacity of America's or Russia's nuclear arsenals to possess an effective deterrent.

All we need is the certain capacity to set back the economy of any potential enemy by 200 years.

HEADS REJECT RACE SPY ROLE

HEAD teachers in Bradford have been outraged by a directive from the 'local education authority to send to the authority details of all "racialist incidents" and the names of pupils involved in them.

Members of the National Association of Head Teachers held an emergency meeting in Bradford on 24th November in order to discuss how they should react to the directive.

While the head teachers say that they are opposed to "racialism" and take action against it, they do not feel that local politicians should be given information which hitherto has been regarded as confidential and internal to their schools.

The education authority has only asked for the names of "racialist" pupils, not the names of pupils involved in any other type of "discipline".

The head teachers say they fear that the authority's dossiers on "racialists" could be used to stigmatise a pupil throughout his or her educational career.

LEICESTER LIGHTS UP FOR 'DIWALI'

If you think these illuminations in Belgrave Road, Leicester, are Christmas decorations, you're wrong! The 5,000 light display marks the Hindu feast of 'Diwali' and the start of year 2040 in the Hindu calendar. Forget the Christmas story — 'Diwali' celebrates "the crowning of Rama after his 14 year exile and triumph over Ravana, the ten-headed king of the demons." There are 60,000 Hindus in Leicestershire...

BRITAIN FULL UP SAYS JUDGE

JUDGE Peter Solomon jailed Pakistani Mohammed Yaqub for 12 months at Southwark Crown Court in October after he had been convicted of supplying false information to help a friend obtain a British passport.

The Judge told Yaqub: "The population of the UK is somewhere between 57 and 60 million. It is a figure which results in a density per square mile that is one of the highest in Europe and a density in our cities which is almost unacceptable.

"It already leads to people losing their natural restraint and acting angrily or violently..."

"The effect of this crime is that a man will come into the UK and have his family here, thereby adding to the situation. It simply cannot be tolerated."

Meanwhile David Waddington MP, the government Minister responsible for Immigration affairs at the Home Office, has recently announced that the rate of Immigration ("28,000" in 1982) will not decrease.

Black murder gang rampage in Hitchin

By Martin Wingfield

THE STARK realities of what the multi-racial society means to Britain has become evident to the Hertfordshire towns of Royston and Hitchin.

On Saturday 8th October, 18 year old apprenticed toolmaker Colin Reid from Royston was stabbed to death in a car park by a gang of Coloured youths after attending a disco at the Regal Theatre in Bancroft, Hitchin.

STUNNED SILENCE

On the following Monday, more than 50 of Colin's friends and relatives stood in stunned silence outside Hitchin Magistrates Court as four Black youths were led from a Police van into the dock to be charged with his murder.

The accused are Haniff Graham, 20, Adrian Smith, 19, Hubert Levy, 22, and Trevor Barrington, 17.

Colin Reid was described by Mr. Peter Stone, the headmaster of his former school, Meridan, as "a quiet individual with a sense of humour, who got on well with everyone and had many friends."

He had begun work last year at Morse Flexon in Letchworth after completing a year's crafts course at North Herts College.

Colin Reid

A colleague at work said: "Everybody is taking it a bit rough. They are upset and angry at such a senseless loss of life."

The tragic death of one of their young men will no doubt bring home to the people of Royston the more marked disadvantages of a multi-racial society.

Those quiet and law abiding citizens who in the past may have paid lip service to the "need for better race relations" will now be aware of what living in areas like Brixton and Hackney is really like.

On Saturday 8th October, Colin Reid discovered that multi-racialism doesn't work. His parents, relatives and friends, with Colin's memory, now also know...

Multi-racialism is not "enriching our way of life" — it is destroying it!

SLASHED TO RIBBONS

INNER London Crown Court was told in October of a horrifying and totally unprovoked racial attack on two 17 year old White youths by a screaming gang of 40 knife-waving Blacks.

The attack took place outside a hamburger bar in Norwood High Road, South London, on 7th July last year.

Lee Martin, a market trader, and his friend Tony Halsall, were dragged from their motorbikes by the mob. Tony managed to escape, but Lee was slashed to ribbons.

After the attack Lee staggered into the hamburger bar smothered with blood. He found two knives still sticking into his body and he managed to pull them out before he collapsed.

Lee had been slashed on his chest, back, shoulders and side. He had also been savagely kicked. It took 149 stitches to sew up his wounds.

Only six members of the Black gang appeared before the Court — and of these, only three were found guilty. One was sent to a detention centre for six weeks, the other two were sent to a detention centre for four weeks.

Yes! Weeks — not years!

Yet another baby victim

YET another baby has been slashed in a mugging attack. This time the tiny victim was 20 month old Lorraine Harrison.

The attack took place on the 10th October in an alley in Tottenham, North London. Lorraine was being pushed in a pram together with her three month old sister Dawn, by her mother Mrs. Carin Harrison.

They were waylaid by two young Black thugs, one of whom — described as having "evil eyes" — was wielding a knife.

He immediately slashed Lorraine on the forehead. Mrs. Harrison handed over her purse containing £117 and pleaded with the brutes not to hurt Lorraine any more.

But "Evil Eyes" slashed her again before ripping Mrs. Harrison's engagement and wedding rings from her finger.

There have been several similar 'Baby Muggings' in that alley recently.

Cannibal, Hannibal!

HANNIBAL of Carthage — the man who took elephants over the Alps — was a negro! At least, that's the latest fantasy being merchandised in America by the "Let's Boost Black Self-Esteem" nut-cases of the National Educational Association.

Carthage was situated on the continent of Africa — on its most northerly tip a few hundred miles from Sardinia and Sicily. But Carthage was founded by the Phoenicians — a White race.

The picture on the left shows a contemporary sculpture of Hannibal, now in the National Archaeological Museum in Naples. He clearly had no negro blood in his veins!

The picture on the right is the National Educational Association's depiction of Hannibal circulating in American schools.

It could be a picture of Shaka Zulu or Prince Monolulu — but not the Carthaginian general!

Jewish movie moguls in Hollywood are now getting in on the history distortion act (again!). They plan a new film "about Hannibal" with negro actor Louis Gossett in the title role!

Police searching for the knife which killed Colin Reid

"WITH COLOURS FLYING AND DRUMS BEATING"

MORE than a thousand National Front members and supporters marched from Victoria to the Cenotaph in Whitehall on Remembrance Day (13th November) to honour Britain's war dead.

This was one of the most dignified and well ordered marches the National Front has ever staged and was substantially larger than last year's parade.

Behind the wreath layers, George Wilson BEM, and Tom Mundy, came the combined drums of the North West of England Drum Corps and the newly formed London Drum Corps.

The large Colour Party under the command of Graham Gillmore showed how a little practice can dramatically improve its appearance.

At the Cenotaph a non-denominational service was conducted by Directorate member Paul Matthews. After the service the parade was reformed and marched across Westminster Bridge. A number of communist opponents waiting at County Hall took flight as they saw the column approach.

The rally near Jubilee Gardens was addressed by Joe Pearce, Ian Anderson, Martin Webster and NF Chairman Andrew Brons. The collection was very good for an outdoor rally, raising nearly £400.

NF petitioners were 'Unlawful Assembly'

IAN ANDERSON, NF Deputy Chairman, and Paul Johnson, NF Directorate member, were both given 3 month prison sentences suspended for 2 years by Maidstone Crown Court on 28th October after being found guilty of charges of "Unlawful Assembly".

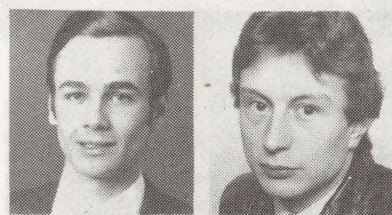

Two other NF members, Steven Baker and Tony Hussey were both fined £200 each and ordered to pay costs, which for Tony Hussey were assessed at nearly £800.

These charges arose from events in Gravesend in late 1982 when the local NF Branch wanted to hold a meeting to adopt Paul Johnson as their prospective parliamentary candidate.

They applied to the local council for a council hall but as a result of a change of policy by the council were turned down.

It was then decided to hold an outdoor adoption meeting right outside the Gravesend Civic Centre on Saturday 4th December 1982. The police refused to allow such a rally on a public highway and suggested an alternative rally site.

The meeting took place on that site, but it was decided to walk down as a procession to the Civic Centre to hand in a letter of protest about the refusal of the Council to hire out a Council hall.

Ian Anderson

Paul Johnson

On the way down a police sergeant attempted to illegally halt the procession "because we didn't have permission to march." This police sergeant agreed that it was only later that he and the NF officials became aware that there were some Asian opponents in the town centre a little way beyond the Civic Centre.

Yet it was because of this that charges of Unlawful Assembly were brought against seven NF members, although charges against three of them were later dismissed.

In a separate but equally important and oppressive Court action Martin Webster had his appeal against conviction turned down for breaking a West Midlands by-law when organising an anti-IRA march in January 1982.

On this occasion formal notice of the NF's intention to hold an anti-IRA march in Birmingham had been submitted to and accepted by the West Midlands Police.

However on the day they attempted by means of a road block to prevent the NF coaches from entering Birmingham.

The coaches were forced to enter Birmingham by means of back streets which eventually became too narrow for the coaches to negotiate. The NF members disembarked and started to make their way towards the assembly point for the march. However, when the police arrived they insisted on forming the people into a more ordered column and then Martin Webster was prosecuted for organising this "march" which was illegal because it wasn't on the originally-agreed route.

While NF members are being prosecuted for such activities where are the prosecutions of the leaders of Race Riots and where is the prosecution of the murderers of Albert Mariner?

Martin Webster

ALBERT DEATH RIOT: 2 REDS GO FREE

TWO MEN have been cleared of charges arising from the riot that took place in Tottenham which resulted in the death of National Front member Albert Mariner.

At Wood Green Crown Court during October Presley Antoine, 24, of Downhills Park Road, Tottenham, and Michael King, 21, of Elmar Road, Tottenham were cleared of charges of Threatening Behaviour and Assaulting a Police Officer.

The court heard that the incidents allegedly happened on 3rd May while National Front supporters were being escorted by Police to a school where an election meeting was planned.

Officers claimed that rioters were throwing bottles, stones, sticks and bricks at the National Front supporters.

Antoine was allegedly trying to break through the Police cordon and kicking out at the NF supporters. He was shouting "fascist bastards" and "Pigs" it was claimed.

Both defendants claimed they had been falsely arrested and that it was a case of "mistaken identity".

Riot Victim Albert Mariner

The judge, Bernard Marder QC, stopped the case half way through agreeing with the defendants that there was "sufficient doubt".

Meanwhile, as "demonstrators" who were involved in the scenes that led to the death of Albert Mariner walk scot-free from courts, the Police are still dragging their feet over their investigation into the promoters of the riot.

The Police are frightened that if they did prosecute those responsible for mobilising the mob which rioted, they would have further riots on their hands.

Showing the flag in Ealing

THE London Borough of Ealing may include Southall but that does not stop the National Front from selling NF News.

On one paper sale in late October the first two paper sellers to arrive attracted the attention of a group of Black temporary residents of this country.

Although very brave when only two National Front sellers were present, their bravery rapidly vanished as other NF members arrived on the scene.

In the afternoon the group of sellers moved to a new sales pitch right outside the Ealing Community Relations Council to the horror of Community Relations Officers, but to the delight and amusement of local White residents.

It is this type of simple but effective activity which is building up the National Front.

Make sure you get in touch with your nearest NF Branch to help with their paper sales.

Fight for Freedom

WHILE Joe Pearce was serving his six month sentence in Chelmsford Jail for offences under the infamous Race Relations Act, he was still fighting for British Nationalism.

Rather than idle away the period of his sentence he devoted all his available spare time to writing the manuscript for a booklet.

This booklet is now in the process of being printed and will be available very shortly.

Fight For Freedom is a compact and comprehensive outline of the ideology of the National Front covering all the main areas of current nationalist thinking.

It can be ordered now from Nationalist Books for £1.37 including postage (cheques/POs to "Nationalist Books"). Send to Nationalist Books, 50 Pawsons Road, Croydon, Surrey.

The first 200 copies ordered will be personally signed by Joe.
